INTRODUCTION

This working paper is the fourth in a series issued by the Foreign Investment Division.

The first version was "Foreign Investment In Canada; Selected Bibliography To 1968", which was prepared by the Library of the Department on request.

The second and third versions were "Foreign Direct Investment In Canada - Selected Bibliography To June 1971" and "Foreign Direct Investment In Canada - Selected Bibliography To March 1972". These were prepared by the Division in close co-operation with the Library. Addenda were issued as appropriate, the latest being an update to March 1973.

In this fourth version, changes have been made in the arrangement of the contents. Previously, the material about direct investment from the United States was presented separately from the rest. In the current version there is no separate statement about investment from the U.S.

Section E, "Bilingual Vocabulary Building" is new. It is designed to help readers who are building up a vocabulary in their second official language, for use in the subject field.

The International Standard Book Number (ISBN) of a book is given, if it is known. Some books may have an ISBN which has not been entered, because they were included in the bibliography before the decision was taken to include ISBNs.

Most of the literature under study is in English, but an increasing proportion is in French, or is in a bilingual format. References in this bibliography use either or both official languages as appropriate. Since the great bulk of the references are in English, this has been retained as the general working language for the paper.

The bibliographies are built up on a day by day basis, as the literature is covered in the normal course of the Division's work. They make no claim to be either exhaustive or definitive. As the by-products of covering a subject field for practical purposes, they have been found useful by many outside the Division. They are updated whenever enough new material has accumulated to make it worthwhile.

The Foreign Investment Division maintains two other bibliographies within its field of interest. One of them is "The International Enterprise: A Selected Bibliography to May 1972", which has been updated to October 1973 by Addenda Nos. 1 (1973) and 2 (1973). The other is "Canadian Direct Investment Abroad, A Selected Bibliography To July 1972" which has been updated to October 1973 by Addendum No. 1 (1973).

Some material is common to this bibliography and to one or both of the other two. For instance, a book may be listed here and also under international enterprises, if the contents make this appropriate.

HOW THE LISTS ARE ARRANGED

General

The contents of this bibliography are presented in five sections:

- A. Canadian Statistical Documents
- B. Books and Documents
- C. Articles
- D. Speeches and Statements by Canadian Cabinet Ministers and Senior Government Officials
- E. Bilingual Vocabulary Building

A. Canadian Statistical Documents

Canadian statistical documents are entered in alphabetical order.

Each entry begins with "Canada". Thereafter, the preferred indicator is the department or publishing agency responsible, such as Statistics Canada. This is followed by the title of the document, the place of publication, the name of the publishing agent, the year of publication, and the number of pages in the publication.

One example of a standard entry for a statistical document is:

Canada. Department of Industry, Trade and Commerce. Foreign-Owned Subsidiaries in Canada, 1964-1967. Ottawa. Queen's Printer, 1970. 148 p.

B. Books and Documents

Books and documents are entered in alphabetical order. The surname of the author is the preferred indicator. This is followed by given names or initials. After the author's name comes the title of the book, the place of publication, the name of the publisher, the year of publication, and the number of pages in the book. Finally, the International Standard Book Number (ISBN) is given, if it is known.

An example of a standard reference to a book is:-

Rohmer, Richard. The Arctic Imperative: An Overview of the Energy Crisis. Toronto, McClelland and Stewart, 1973. 224 p. ISBN: 0-7710-7701-7

This is a book by Richard Rohmer called "The Arctic Imperative", published in Toronto by McClelland and Stewart in 1973. It contains 224 pages. The International Standard Book Number is 0-7710-7701-7.

When there are two or more authors, the indicator for the main entry is the surname of the author who is listed first in the book. The names of the other authors also appear in the citation. A separate entry is made for each of the other authors with a cross-reference to the main citation.

An example of this is the entry:-

Caves, Richard E. and Grant L. Reuber. Canadian Economic Policy and the Impact of International Capital Flows. Toronto, University of Toronto Press, 1969. 82p.

The first name given in the book is Richard E. Caves and the main listing, therefore, appears under his name. The other author is cross-referenced back to the main entry, as in the following example:-

Reuber, Grant L. See Caves, Richard E. and Grant L. Reuber.

A similar entry would appear in the case of more than two authors.

In the case of a book which is published under the name of an editor, the editor's name is used as the indicator. In some cases, the main entry will also list each chapter with its author's name. In such a case a chapter may appear as a separate entry under its author's name with a cross reference to the book.

An example of a symposium published under the name of an editor is:

Paquet, Gilles. Editor. The Multinational Firm and the Nation State . Don Mills, Collier-MacMillan Canada, 1972. 182p.

This is a reference to the book "The Multinational Firm and the Nation State", which was edited by Gilles Paquet and published in Don Mills by Collier-MacMillan Canada in 1972. It has 182 pages.

Under the citation above appears a list of the chapters in the book that contain references to Canada such as "The Multinational Firm as a Vehicle for the International Transmission of Technology by Bernard Bonin".

Elsewhere among the books and documents appears a cross-reference to this chapter, thus:-

Bonin, Bernard. The Multinational Firm as a Vehicle for the International Transmission of Technology. (In the Multinational Firm and the Nation State, Edited by Gilles Paquet. Don Mills, Collier-MacMillan Canada, 1972. pages 111-126.)

In some cases the indicator for use in alphabetical listing is not the name of a person, but the name of a government department, a research institute, an association, a journal, or some similar institution. When an entry is listed under an institution the author's name may be mentioned in the body of the entry if it is given in the document.

An example of this is:-

Canadian Trade Committee. Industrial Structure in Canada's International Competitive Position: A Study of the Factors Affecting Economies of Scale and Specialization in Canadian Manufacturing, by H. Edward English. Study Sponsored by the Canadian Trade Committee, Private Planning Association of Canada. Montreal, 1964. 58 p.

In the case of a government publication, the indicator for alphabetical purposes is the name of the country. This is followed by the name of the department responsible for the publication. When publications are listed for more than one department of a government, they are arranged in the alphabetical order of the departments.

Speeches and statements by people other than Canadian cabinet ministers and senior government officials are usually included in the section on books and documents. The main indicator is the name of the speaker. The entry includes the title of the speech, the place at which it was delivered and the nature of the audience.

Unpublished material destined to become an article is included under books and documents until a reference to the published form is available. For example, an address to a learned society would be listed as an unpublished document until such time as this reference was superseded by one to a published article.

Theses are included in the section on books and documents, whether they are published or unpublished.

When consecutive entries are listed under the same indicator, a dash replaces the name of the author, editor, or institution in the second and subsequent entries.

C. Articles

Articles are listed by date of publication. The entry consists of the author's name, the title of the article, the name of the publication, the volume number, the page reference and the date.

The volume number is usually in Arabic numerals, whether the publication used Arabic or Roman numerals for this purpose. The number of the issue is generally omitted. It is included only if it is needed to enable the reader to trace the publication to source, or if there is no volume number.

An example of a standard entry for an article is:-

Litvak, I.A. and C.J. Maule, U.S. Domination of Canadian Labor. Columbia Journal of World Business 7:57-64 May-June 1972.

This means that an article entitled "U.S. Domination of Canadian Labor", appeared in the Columbia Journal of World Business, which was published for the months of May-June 1972. It appeared in Volume VII on pages 57-64.

Another example is:-

Raynauld, André. La propriété et la performance des entreprises établies au Québec. Etudes internationales 2:81-109 mars 1971.

This is an article written by André Raynauld entitled "La propriété et la performance des entreprises établies au Québec", which was published in Etudes internationales, Volume 2, in March 1971. It appeared on pages 81 to 109.

D. Speeches and Statements by Canadian Cabinet Ministers and Senior Government Officials

Speeches and statements by Canadian cabinet ministers and senior government officials are listed by date. Each entry gives the name of the speaker, his official capacity, an indication of the subject covered, and the date and place of the speech or statement.

E. Bilingual Vocabulary Building

This section is included to help people who wish to build up a vocabulary in their second official language. It is directed at the subject field covered by this bibliography.
